the losses sustained during the seventyoze days operation of the Juarez plant.
Therefore, it goes without saying that even the deac-game sports among the rich Mexicans, who backed the new undertuking from the outset, will hesitate before digging down in their leans for another couple hundred thousand dollars to be expended on a track which failed to pay a dividend from the first day.
Of course, another tweive months beignt work wonders for the Mexican turi-racing might be legislated out of Plorida or something like that—and thpbulk of the American horsemen forces to travel after to earn a livelihood. But the possibilities of such a contingency arising to so distant that my hones for the future success of the Juarez track could not be based upon such.

It's hats off to the men who endeavored to make the Juarez meeting a permanent fixture on the racing map. They
